Comprehension:

Read the following passage and answer questions which follow.

Even though globalisation is one of the most discussed topics in the contemporary world, it is not altogether a well defined concept. A multitude of global interactions are put under the broad heading of globalisation, varying from the expansion of cultural and scientific influences across borders to the enlargement of economic and business relations throughout the world. A wholesale rejection of globalisation would not only go against global business, it would also cut out movements of ideas, understanding, and knowledge that can help all the people of the world, including the most disadvantaged members of the world population. A comprehensive rejection of globalisation can thus be powerfully counterproductive. There is a strong need to separate out the different questions that appear merged together in the rhetoric of the antislobalisation protests. The globalisation of knowledge deserves a particularly high profile recognition, despite all the good things that can be rightly said about the importance of 'Local knowledge'.

Globalisation is often seen, both in journalistic discussions and in remarkably many academic writings, as a process of westernization. Indeed, some who take an upbeat view of the phenomenon even see it as a contribution of Western civilization to the world.

Comprehension:

Read the passage I given below and answer the questions that follow.

Passage 1

According to the 2018 Global Nutrition Report released in November 2018, India holds almost a third of the world's burden for stunting which shows that India is facing a major malnutrition crisis. Talking about the children who are stunted, India tops the list (45.6 million) followed by Nigeria (13.9 million) and Pakistan (10.7 million). The National family Health Survey 4 (NFHS4) also pointed out that India has a very high burden of micronutrient deficiencies caused by Vitamin A, Iodine, Iron and Folic acid leading to Night Blindness, goitre, Anaemia and various birth defects. The survey further observed that 58.4% of children under 5 in India are anaemic, 53.1% of women in the reproductive age group are anaemic and 30.7% of children under 5 are under weight. India has a high prevalence of childhood stunting and maternal and childhood anaemia. These can have long term effects on cognition and overall productivity. There is evidence that malnutrition can result in potential Gross Domestic Product (GDP) losses of 2 – 3% and a more than 10% potential reduction in life time earnings for each malnourished individual.

The National family Health Survey 4 (NFHS4) also pointed out that India has a very high burden of micronutrient deficiencies caused by Vitamin A, Iodine, Iron and Folic acid leading to Night Blindness, goitre, Anaemia and various birth defects. The survey further observed that 58.4% of children under 5 in India are anaemic, 53.1% of women in the reproductive age group are anaemic and 30.7% of children under 5 are under weight. India has a high prevalence of childhood stunting and maternal and childhood anaemia. These can have long term effects on cognition and overall productivity. There is evidence that malnutrition can result in potential Gross Domestic Product (GDP) losses of 2 – 3% and a more than 10% potential reduction in life time earnings for each malnourished individual.

Passage 2:

Gender Based Violence (GBV) is a global health, human rights and development issue that transcends geography, class, culture, age, race and religion to affect every community and country in every corner of the world. The article 1 of UN Declaration on the Elimination of violence 1993 provides a definition of gender-based abuse, calling it 'any act of gender-based violence that results in, or is likely to result in, physical, sexual or psychological harm or suffering to women, including threats of such acts, coercion or arbitrary deprivation of liberty, whether occurring in public or in private life'. In India, gender based violence, has many manifestations from the more universally prevalent forms of domestic and sexual violence including rape, to harmful practices such as dowry, honour killings, acid attacks, child sexual abuse, etc. Other than these, India is also grappling with violence due to inequalities in social life, displacement and communal incidents. Ministry of Finance, GOI has established 'Nirbhaya Fund' for women safety. The working group on women's Agency and Empowerment had recommended setting up of one stop crisis centres, on pilot basis with a 24 hour helpline. The scheme for one stop centre was approved for implementation. It aims to facilitate access to an integrated range of services including medical aid, police assistance, legal aid, psychological counselling to women affected by violence. Under the scheme, it has been envisaged that one stop centres would be set up across the country in phased manner. In the first phase, one centre was sanctioned per State/UT. Further, 160 additional centres were taken up in second phase during 2016-17. Thus a total of 186 OSC's have been sanctioned so far and 166 of the same are operational as on 12.12.2017.
